

HEYDAR ALIYEV FOUNDATION

CULTURAL HERITAGE OF

AZERBAIJAN

Carpets

HEYDAR ALIYEV FOUNDATION

Contents

The Azerbaijani Carpets.....	5
The Guba Carpet School.....	17
The Baku Carpet School.....	29
The Shirvan Carpet School.....	41
The Ganja Carpet School.....	59
The Gazakh Carpet School.....	71
The Garabagh Carpet School.....	87
The Nakhchivan Carpet School.....	105
The Tabriz Carpet School.....	117

"Garabagh" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 253x220 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

The Azerbaijani Carpets

Azerbaijan has been famous for its arts for centuries, with carpet production traditionally playing a leading role among them. For the Azerbaijani people carpet-weaving is an integral part of the local culture that encompasses the nation's rich spiritual world, deeply-rooted perceptions and aesthetic values. For millennia, the Azerbaijanis were born and spent most of their lives on carpets. And on the carpets did they pass away.

The origins of carpet-making tradition in Azerbaijan are traced to the period of Bronze Age. Both written sources and archaeological finds clearly indicate that back in the II millennium B.C., artifacts made of carpet fabric were already manufactured in the territory of Azerbaijan. According to historic data and records by European travellers, Mediaeval Azerbaijan was one of the major carpet hubs of the Orient.

In Azerbaijan, carpet weaving was primarily a women-dominated art, with the traditions and skills carefully passed over from one generation to another. It is widely believed that in those good old days there was not a single woman in the area incapable to weave a carpet. No surprise, a carpet set known as dast-khaly-gebe was an integral part of each girl's dowry. The set comprised 3-5 pieces of carpet works, and the owner was supposed to be personally involved in the making process. This centuries-old tradition was another factor encouraging the tradition of carpet weaving in Azerbaijan and turning it into one of the major forms of popular art in the country.

By the mode of production, the Azerbaijani carpets are divided into piled and cut-pile types. The latter ones include carpet works like palas, jejim, shadda, kilim, zili, varni, sumakh and lady. Since times immemorial, types of cut-pile works widely used in local domestic life were khurjun (weathercock), mafrashi (carpet-type chest), chul (horse cloth), etc. As far as the most popular piled carpets are concerned, these were dast-khaly-gebe, khalcha, khaly and gebe.

Abundant nature and diverse environment together with a set of historic, economic and social factors nurtured an enormous versatility of the Azerbaijani carpets. Each region of Azerbaijan was known for the signature carpets and carpet works typical for that particular area. The major carpet schools of Azerbaijan took centuries to consolidate, and were known after each respective area, such as Guba, Shirvan, Baku, Ganja, Gazakh, Garabagh, Nakhchivan and Tabriz.

With their rich compositions and elaborate designs, the Azerbaijani carpets were widely popular in the Mediaeval Europe. The German and British envoys of the XVI-XVIII centuries were raving about artistic value of local carpets, whereas the famous European artists of the XIV-XV centuries tended to portray them on their canvasses. For instance, the Azerbaijani carpet of "Mughan" design (the Garabagh school) adorns 'Madonna Enthroned' by Hans Memling (1433-1494). Pattern of the Gazakh school may be found on Carlo Crivelli's "The Annunciation with Saint Emidius" (1430-1495), whereas Zeyva carpet (the Guba school) stands out at "Madonna with Canon Van der Paele" by Jan van Eyck (1395 - 1441).

The best samples of Azerbaijani carpets are currently exhibited at the world's leading museums and galleries, such as the Metropolitan (New York), the Textile Museum (Washington DC), the Louvre (Paris), the Victoria & Albert Museum (London), the Museum of Turkic and Islamic Works, the Topkapy Museum (Istanbul), the Museum of Oriental Art, the History Museum and the Armory Museum (Moscow) and the Arts Museum (Kiev).

Mughan type carpet (the XIII century, Garabagh school), one of the earliest samples of the carpet art, is nowadays exposed in the Museum of Turkic and Islamic Works in Istanbul, whereas 'Dragon & Phoenix' composition (the Gazakh school) manufactured in the XV century is among the exhibits of Pergamon, Berlin.

Sheikh Sali, a true masterpiece of the Azerbaijani carpet art with a breathtaking overall area of 56 square meters, woven in 1539 in Tabriz (an ancient town of Southern Azerbaijan, nowadays North-Western Iran), is among the most renowned exhibits of the Victoria & Albert Museum in London, whereas Khile-Buta composition made in 1801 in Khila village (now Amirjan, the Baku School) is adorning Moscow's State History Museum.

In 1967, the Carpet Museum, the first of its kind in the world, was established in Baku. Today the Museum is named after Latif Karimov, a famous scholar, artist and renowned expert in carpets and applied arts. The Museum currently holds the complete collection of carpet works of the XVIII-XX centuries featuring all carpet schools of Azerbaijan.

On November 16, 2010, Azerbaijan's carpet art tradition was included in UNESCO's Intangible World Cultural Heritage List.

"Shadda" carpet. Nakhchivan,
Azerbaijan. 2003. 213x158 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

Hans Memling. "Still Life with a Jug with Flowers". XV century.
"Mughan" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan.

"Mughan" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 141x264 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5192

Hans Memling. "Madonna Enthroned". XVI century.
Museum of Art History (Kunsthistorisches museum), Vienna.
"Mughan" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan.

"Mughan" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 118x298 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 8095

Jan van Eyck. "Madonna with Canon Van der Paele". XV century.
Groeninge Museum, Bruges. "Zeyva" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan.

"Zeyva" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 123x166 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2944

*The Guba
Carpet School*

"Sirt-chichi" carpet. Guba,
Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 237x136 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

The Guba Carpet School

The region of Guba is by far the largest carpet hub in Azerbaijan. Located in the country's north-east, it comprises the mountainous, foothill and level ground areas.

The mountainous carpet production cluster includes villages like Gonaghkand, Khashi, Jimi, Afurja, Erfi, Sekhub, Budug, Qyryz, Jek, Khan, Salmesoyud.

The foothill cluster consists of villages like Fyndughan, Amirhanly, Alikhanly, Khalfalar, Gyando, Piramsan, Biliji, Shahnazarli, Pirebedil, Zeyva, Zohrami, Sumagoba, Khyrdagul-Chichi, Syrt-Chichi, Dere-Chichi and Sabatlar.

In the level ground area, the carpet production was centered around the Shabran valley including Chay Karakashly, Adji Karakashly, Susinli Karakashly, Sarvan, Davachi, Mollakamaly and other villages.

The Guba carpets encompass more than 30 various compositions featuring multiple designs, complex geometrical patterns and moderate color gamut. The patterns comprise stylized vegetal and animalistic motifs. The fringe is a particularly remarkable part of the Guba carpets. With its intertwined patterns, it oftentimes occupies a large part of the middle area. Carpets from Guba feature small but very elaborate ornament motifs together with medallions of various shapes and highly stylized vegetal elements placed in staggered order, with blue, ochreous yellow, white, dark blue and brown as dominant colors.

The Guba carpet compositions like Alpan, Gonaghkand, Alchagul-Chichi, Khyrdagul-Chichi, Gymyl, Pirebedil, Zeyva, Biliji, Ugah, Afurja, Ordudj, Jimmi, Gedim Minare, Syrt-Chichi and others feature a very high density of knots, elaborate structure, complex patterns, refined shapes and harmonious color combinations. Besides piled carpets, Guba is also known for cut-pile works like sumakh, palas and other rugs.

Density of the Guba carpets varies 40x40 to 55x55 knots in a square decimeter, thus reaching 160-300 thousand knots per square meter.

"Ugah" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. 1875-1876. 112x430 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 4029

"Gymyl" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 133x202 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1559

"Shahnazarli" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 108x180 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5655

"Gonaghkand" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 130x200 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 333

"Sirt-chichi" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 116x136 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 448

Carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 170x120 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 7921

"Zeykhur" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 155x104 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Biliji" carpet. Guba, Azerbaijan. 1897. 155x104 cm

"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

*The Baku
Carpet School*

"Khila-Afshan" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 400x180 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 9556

The Baku Carpet School

The Baku carpet weaving hub comprises the following settlements at the Absheron Peninsula: Novkhany, Nardaran, Bulbula, Fatmai, Mardakan, Gala, Amirjan (Khila), as well as the administrative district of Khyzy with villages like Gaady, Khil, Keshi, Fyndyghan. Hence most of the carpets crafted in this area are named after the places of their manufacture, like Khile-Buta, Khile-Afshan, Novkhany, Surakhany, Gala, Baku, Goradil, Fatmai, Fyndyghan, Gaadi, etc. The region of Baku was also known for cut-pile rugs, such as palas, kilim, zili, and cut-pile carpet works like heyba, chanta, khurjun.

The Baku school of carpets features soft texture, bright colors and elaborate patterns. Geometric and vegetal motifs dominate the patterns. For instance, Khile-Buta composition outlines buta, the most popular element in Azerbaijan's decorative art. The origin of buta dates back to the Zoroastrian traditions when it was used as a symbol of the fire cult.

By artistic style and technical features, the Baku carpets may be divided into two categories.

The first one, including Khile-Buta and Khile-Afshan compositions, is close to the Tebriz school, but interpreted in a very local and site-specific manner.

The second category has greater semblance with the Shirvan carpet school. This holds true with compositions like Surakhany, Novkhany, Fatmai, Goradil, Gala, and Baku. These compositions feature large rectangular medallions with projecting angles along the central axis. Ridges of medallions are often decorated with hook-shaped elements. Inner part of medallions is adorned with various motifs and stylized vegetal portrayals. Despite geometric shapes, the fringes retain their vegetal elements.

The overall color gamut of this group of carpets is typical of the nature of Northern Absheron. The area was traditionally famous for pomegranate, saffron, almond, figs and grapes, so the weavers used pomegranate peel, fig and grape leaves together with onion skin to dye the wool. This explains prevalence of red, purple, dark and sky blue and green colors.

The Baku carpets feature very high technical qualities, such as high density of knots, soft texture, high quality wool, thorough workmanship and elaborate manufacture. Density of knots varies from 40x40 to 55x55 per square decimeter which makes 160-300 thousand knots per square meter. Some carpets have almost 350 thousand knots per square meter.

"Khile-Afshan" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 147x288 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7311

"Chiyi Palas". Baku, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 204x295 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 4027

"Khile-Buta" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 101x126 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 385

"Khile-Afshan" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. Late XIX – early XX centuries. 145x275 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 490

"Surakhany" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 102x153 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 543

"Khila-Buta" carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. 1914. 166x375 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5514

Carpet. Baku, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 176x110 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 9556

*The Shirvan
Carpet School*

"Pirhasanlı" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. 1913. 139x190 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1136

The Shirvan Carpet School

The Shirvan carpet hub is located in north-eastern part of Azerbaijan comprising the towns and districts like Shamakhy, Maraza, Aghsu, Kurdamir, Goychay, etc. Carpets of Shirvan are large in size and have a high density of knots.

The Shirvan carpets feature busy and elaborate decorative elements in the shape of highly stylized vegetal ornaments and birds. Normally the weavers tend to fill up open areas with geometric medallions portraying animals, birds, trees and insects.

The Shirvan carpet school presents over 30 compositions of piled carpets. The middle part of these carpets is adorned with an elaborate fringe comprising several stripes. The Shirvan carpets are generally known for a warm color gamut, with red, blue, ochreous brown and dark brownish black as dominant dyes.

The most recognized compositions for piled carpets include Arjiman, Jamjami, Gabystan, Maraza and Kurdamir. The region of Shirvan was also known for its cut-pile rugs, such as palas and kilim, manufactured primarily in Pashaly and Udulu villages.

Cut-pile carpet works of Shirvan included chuval (sack), khurjun (saddle bag), mafrash (woven bag), chul (horse cloth), etc.

The Shirvan carpets had a high density (45x45 to 50x50 knots in a square decimeter) and the pile 3-4 millimeters high.

"Salyan" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 195x125 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Arjiman" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 120x178 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 6770

"Bijo" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 182x116 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Jamjamli" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 114x161 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1889

"Ovchulug" (Hunting) carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. 1922. 102x195 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 322

"Gabystan" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 147x208 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 4859

"Arjiman" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 154x382 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 6742

Carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX-early XX centuries. 266x135 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 6838

"Agajly" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 193x154 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Shamakhy" carpet. Shirvan, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 122x180 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 404

*The Ganja
Carpet School*

"Gedabey" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 139x250 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1820

The Ganja Carpet School

The Ganja carpet hub is located in north-west of Azerbaijan comprising the city of Ganja with adjacent villages, as well as places like Gedabey, Goranboy, Shamkir and Samukh. Ganja retained its role as the local carpet production center.

Back in the X-XI centuries, Ganja was widely famous for its silk and wool textile and high quality carpets. What made the Ganja carpets so distinct was veracity of patterns, diversity in compositions and refined lines. The local carpets feature large medallions with symmetric ornaments in the middle. It is this optic game that makes the Azerbaijani carpets look extremely dynamic.

The Ganja carpets include about 20 compositions. In old days, carpets of 8 different compositions were woven in each village. Places like Ganja, Samukh and Fakhraly were known for compositions under the same names. Gedim Ganja and Fakhraly designs are the best examples of the Ganja carpets. Fakhraly carpets were normally small in size and are used as prayer rugs (namazlyg). The middle area of these carpets is oftentimes pointed with a vaulted or circular arch (mehrab).

What makes these carpets even more eye-catching and fresh-looking is the white background of the middle fringe and colors with decorative motifs in the middle.

The Ganja carpets are generally large in size (3,2x1,6 meters), although some smaller works are also typical of the area (like 1,6x1,0 meter). Density of knots varies from 25x25 to 40x40 knots per square decimeter. Pile height ranges from 5 to 7 millimeters.

"Ganja" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 113x333 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5298

"Chayly" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 123x300 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2223

"Fakhrly" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. 1923. 113x177 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2456

Carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. Late XIX-early XX centuries. 233x123 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 8731

"Fakhrly" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. 1901. 156x100 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Gedim Ganja" carpet. Ganja, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 133x270 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2198

*The Gazakh
Carpet School*

"Garachop" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Mid-XX century. 135x205 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 8615

The Gazakh Carpet School

The Gazakh carpet school encompasses the administrative district of Gazakh in the north-west of Azerbaijan, together with adjacent Azerbaijani-populated villages in Georgia (such as Borchaly, Garayazy, Garachop, Gachagan), and, until the recent time, the Azerbaijani villages of Armenia (Bambal, Lambaly, Ijevan, Garagoyunlu). The most popular compositions of this group include Borchaly, Shykhly, Gaymagly, Gachagan, Salakhly, Garayazy, etc.

The Gazakh carpets feature large medallions depicting highly stylized totemic animals, a velvet texture of dark blue, red or green wool with moderate color gamut.

The Gazakh school of carpets has 25 compositions with very diverse patterns. Gazakh, Salakhly, Kemerli, Demirchiler, Gaymakhly, Daghkesemen, Borchaly, Garagoyunlu are just a few to mention.

Excessively geometric medallions and portrayals of totemic animals constitute the signature element of these carpets. The color combination is mild, like ochreous brown with grass green, or yellow with black, or white with reddish tones. A very tender and soft quality of local wool enables the weavers to accomplish this harmony.

The Gazakh carpets of larger size (4,5x2,1 meters) are known as gebe, whereas smaller rugs are called gazakhcha. A relatively low density varies at 30x30 knots per square decimeter.

"Gaymagly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 287x398 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 659

"Borchaly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 181x284 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7818

"Borchaly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 151x290 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1138

"Shykhly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 129x315 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 599

“Gachagan” carpet, Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 125x302 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 836

"Shykhly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 139x200 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 8612

Carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Late XIX-early XX centuries. 150x233 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 9383

Carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 247x139 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 3834

"Akstafa" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 270x167 cm
 "Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Borchaly" carpet. Gazakh, Azerbaijan. 1915. 164x118 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

*The Garabagh
Carpet School*

"Godja" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. The XIX century. 210x590 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 495

The Garabagh Carpet School

Located in Azerbaijan's south-west, the region of Garabagh encompasses the mountainous area and the valley. The Arabic historians like Al-Muqaddasi, Al-Masudi report of this area as a large carpet hub since the X century onwards. In the XIX century, Garabagh was playing a leading role in Azerbaijan's carpet production. Shortly prior to this, in 1750, Panakhali-Khan, ruler of the Garabagh Khanate (Duchy), founded the town of Panakhabad (Shusha) which was destined to grow into a recognized center for carpet production in the South Caucasus since the very outset. While studying the Shusha carpet works of that period, the Russian researcher Y. Zadgenidze mentioned that the Azerbaijani town of Shusha was second to none in the Caucasus in terms of quantity and quality of carpets and palases manufactured. He wrote: "...almost all carpet production in Shusha is concentrated in the tartar (i.e. Azerbaijani) households, and this reveals the historic and social roots of this phenomenon..."

The Garabagh carpet school embraces about 50 various compositions, some of them developed as a result of interpretation of certain Tabriz patterns, such as Godja, Achma-yumma, Balyq, etc. In the past, places like Jabrayil, Khanlyg, Lenberan, Gubadly, Barda, Aghdam, Dovshanly, Minkend, Chanakhly, Baghyrbeyli, Muradkhanly and others were also known for substantial carpet production. The local carpets feature diversity of compositions, geometric vegetal elements and bright eye-catching colors. Vegetal motifs together with large lozenge-shaped medallions are widely used in the ornaments. In the meantime, the region was also known for a large number of pictorial carpets, such as Atly-itly, Pahlivan, Shir. Besides this, Garabagh produced a number of cut-pile rugs like kilim, zili, verni, etc.

Dast-khaly-gebe carpet set consisting of 3-5 pieces was among Garabagh's signature works. Carpets of this region are known for their large size (up to 25-30 square meters). Spacious local residential premises with large oblong rooms were among the major reasons for this. Khaly, the middle work of the set, was both long and wide, flanked with two narrower carpets (gebe-kenary) to the left and right. The whole composition was crowned by kalleyi, completing the oblong rectangle of the floor.

The Garabagh school of carpets includes the following compositions: Barda, Khangarvand, Godja, Buynuz, Daranur, Achma-yumma, Shabalytbuta, Lamberan, Khantirme, Malybeyli, Lampa, Bulut, Baghchadaguller, Nalbakigul, Khanlyg, Garagoyunlu, Gubadly, Gasymushaghy, Bahmanly, Mughanly, Talysh, etc.

Due to the exceptional quality of the local wool, the Garabagh carpets feature a high, thick and fluffy pile. Density varies from 30x30 to 40x40 knots per square decimeter, which is equal to 90-160 thousand knots in a square meter. Meanwhile carpets with 200 thousand knots per square meter were not uncommon. Thick pile and colorful compositions convey the message of Garabagh's abundant nature.

"Shabalid-buta" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 105x271 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 9394

"Mughan" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 114x300 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2232

"Gasimushagi" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 160x284 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7798

"Atly-itli" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 103x195 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5843

"Malybayli" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 133x241 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 4453

"Shabalytbuta" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 123x236 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7780

“Tirmasayaghy” carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 112x285 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 1960

"Aghajly" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 131x194 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7471

"Chelebi" carpet. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. 1909. 156x288 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 3863

Varni. Pileless. Garabagh, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 300x176 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 9334

*The Nakhchivan
Carpet School*

"Nakhchivan" carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 348x190 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

The Nakhchivan Carpet School

Since times immemorial, Nakhchivan has been among Azerbaijan's most ancient artistic, commercial and cultural hubs. The area was particularly famous for its applied and decorative arts, carpet weaving one of them.

Nakhchivan, Shahbuz, Ordubad and Julfa were the old-time centers of cut-pile and piled carpet works, made of either wool or silk.

As in Garabagh, dast-khaly-gebe carpet sets were also woven here varying from two to twenty square meters in size. Nakhchivan's signature carpet works were the long stripy narrow carpets adorned with geometric, vegetal and zoomorphic ornaments. A whole series of so-called dragon-type Nakhchivan carpets of the XVIII century, very rich and diverse in terms of composition, is currently exhibited in Istanbul.

Size of the Nakhchivani carpets may reach 25-30 square meters with the density varying from 30x30 to 40x40 knots per square decimeter (i.e. 90-160 thousand per square meter), and the pile 6-10 millimeters high.

Zili. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 311x190 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Nakhchivan" carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 393x98 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

Carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 347x112 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

Shadda. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 200x166 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

Carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 104x281cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 5813

"Nakhchivan" carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 230x115 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Ajami" carpet. Design by Latif Karimov. Azerbaijan. 1948. 120x180 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 6174

"Nakhchivan" carpet. Nakhchivan, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 315x103 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

*The Tabriz
Carpet School*

"Hunting" carpet composition. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 210x150 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 6055

The Tabriz Carpet School

The Tabriz Carpet School located in the South Azerbaijan (nowadays north-western Iran, where the area is known as Western Azerbaijan and Eastern Azerbaijan provinces) comprises cities like Tabriz, Ardabil, Maragha, Marand, Khoy, Urmiyye, Zanjan, Geresu, Geriz, Sarab, Ahmadabad, Mirish, Akhar, Salmas, Goravan, Senna, Garadagh, etc.

The Tabriz carpet tradition was strongly influenced by the local miniature school of the XVI-XVIII centuries. The period in question is also known as the golden age for the carpet art in the Orient, with its masterpieces nowadays cherished in a number of museums throughout the world. Among the most prominent works of this kind one should mention the famous Sheikh Safi, also known as The Ardabil Carpet. Woven in 1539, it is nowadays exhibited at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London. Another work of art, known as The Hunter, the XVI century, is kept at Poldi Pezzoli Museum, Milan.

The Tabriz carpets feature an enormous diversity of compositions and ornaments, refined vegetal motifs, elaborate décor of the central medallion and elegant lines of patterns.

The school embraces the following recognized compositions: Tabriz, Bakhshayish, Garaja, Geravan, Heris, Lechek-Turunj, Dord Fesil (Four Seasons), Afshan, Shah Abbasy, Aghajly, Ovchulug, Ardebil, Sheykh Sefi, Shahabbasi, Sarabi, Zenjan, Mir and Achma-yumma.

Tabriz and Ardebil were known for carpets of big size and high density. The highest density reached 80x80 to 100x100 knots per square decimeter, whereas the largest size ever was 56 square meters.

Height of pile in the Tabriz carpets varies from 2 to 15 millimeters, while overall density ranges from 25x25 to 100x100 knots in a square decimeter. Recently some custom-made carpets with pile up to 40 millimeters were crafted as well.

"Aghajly" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Early XIX century. 196x139 cm
"Azer-Ilme" Private Collection

"Omar Khayyam with his lover" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 192x143 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 919

"Aghajly" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Early XX century. 137x180 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2335

"Lechek-Turunj" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Late XIX century. 125x175 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 6561

"Lechek-Turunj" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Mid-XX century. 135x212 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7643

"Aghajly" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. Mid.XIX century. 196x134 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 7298

"Balyg" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 498x200 cm
The National History Museum of Azerbaijan. 8761

"Lamp" carpet. Tabriz, Azerbaijan. XIX century. 260x580 cm
The Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum. 2516

CULTURAL HERITAGE OF

AZERBAIJAN

Carpets

© HEYDAR ALIYEV FOUNDATION 2012

TEXT BY:

Roya Taghiyeva - Director of the Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum, Professor, Doctor of Art History
Vidadi Muradov - Director General, Azer-Ilme LLC, Professor, Doctor of Decorative and Applied Arts
Mira Mammadkhanova - Head Curator of the Latif Karimov Azerbaijan State Carpet and Applied Arts Museum, Ph.D. in Art History
Gulzada Abdulova - Head of the Ethnography - Scientific Fund Department of the National History Museum of Azerbaijan, Ph.D. in History

DESIGN:

SS PRODUCTION, AZERBAIJAN

PHOTOGRAPHS BY:

Mammad Rahimov, Fatali Fataliyev

TRANSLATED BY:

Fuad Akhundov

PRINT:

CHASHIOGLU, AZERBAIJAN

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

ISBN: 978-9952-8144-6-0

CULTURAL HERITAGE OF AZERBAIJAN

CARPETS